DRAPERIES

How bare the room looks without curtains! Who has not heard this remark, or made it.

More than fifty per cent of the charm of a completely furnished room is in the window and door draperies. This is becoming more and more a recognized fact every day.

This is an age of window and door decorations. Drapery goods and draperies of handsome designs and qualities may now be had at prices within reach of those of moderate means as well as the extremely wealthy.

It is the draperies that give life to a room. It is the color of the draperies that bring the tones of the rugs and furniture into harmony with the tones of the walls.

We are showing this week some new patterns of curtain goods and drapery materials. Come in and see them.
